Owning and managing your own business is an exciting and rewarding experience. However, there are times when it can be a lonely and stressful place. It's our job to ensure success, deliver new ideas, be focused and ensure that we remain profitable – no small achievement.

The best thing about working with Ian was he reminded me why I went into business in the first place, he helped me realise what had been achieved so far and what a great business Synergy was. Ian was able to understand my business quickly and to pinpoint exactly where change and additional support was required. This was all converted into an action plan, which he made me accountable for! - this was a new experience for me.

I started working with Ian in November 2005 – we doubled our turnover in 2006 and have now fulfilled the business plan we set out to achieve. We moved premises in April 2007 and are now on target to increase our operation from 50 to 200 employees over the next 18 months.

Thank you Ian you are a pleasure to be with. You have an amazing ability to listen, understand and deliver ideas and support where needed. I look forward working with you again.
